Emergency In Findlay

3 Inches Of Rain Bring Floods To Some Ohio Areas

By The Associated Press
Overnight thunderstorms dumped up to three inches of rain in some sections of Ohio and sent streams and creeks in the northern half of the state out of their banks today.

Most seriously affected were the watersheds of the Sandusky, Chagrin and Maumee rivers, all of which empty into Lake Erie.

Threats of a repetition of the Jan. 21 statewide disaster were dispelled somewhat by forecasts calling for an end to the rain by afternoon. Nevertheless, the overflowing Blanchard River caused a state of emergency at Findlay and the use of National Guard troops there.

Complicating the situation on the Sandusky River and in the cities of Upper Sandusky, Tiffin and particularly Fremont, was an ice jam in Sandusky Bay in Lake Erie. Army engineers at Buffalo recommended extensive blasting of this ice to allow the flood waters to reach the lake.

The state of emergency at Findlay was declared at 3:30 a.m. when the Blanchard River went out of its banks and began flooding the city. Adj. Gen. Loren Windom called out Company C of the 148th Infantry Regiment of the Ohio National Guard to assist city officials in rescue operations.

The Blanchard, which is in the watershed of the Maumee River, climbed almost a foot between 8 and 9 a.m. and was more than six feet above flood stage and only three feet below the crest reached there three weeks ago.

Van Wert, which escaped serious damage last month, had its downtown streets inundated as Town Creek overran its banks. The Van Wert Times-Bulletin press room was flooded and it was doubtful if the daily newspaper would be able to publish today.

Frozen ground in the northwestern section of the state hastened the run-off, but softer ground — with a frost penetration of only one inch — soaked up some of the water in the upper reaches of the Scioto and Muskingum River watersheds and prevented a repetition of serious flooding such as hit Mount Vernon three weeks ago.

Highways were closed in many sections and the State Highway Department listed 27 as impassible. A department spokesman pointed out that nine still were closed from effects of last month's floods. Thousands of school children in many sections got time off.

Red Cross workers and officials benefited by the experiences of last month and set up shelters and evacuated persons in low-lying areas in advance of the flooding streams.

High winds, which hit most of the state Monday night were expected to reach the lake.

SUB Plan Due Floor Vote In Ohio's Senate

Wednesday Set If Democrats Can Line Up 3rd GOP Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) bill will come to a floor vote in the Ohio Senate Wednesday if the leaders of the Democratic-dominated Senate can be sure of a third Republican vote.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) says he has all 20 Democratic votes for the proposal to permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state unemployment benefits. Since it is an emergency measure, it requires 22 votes—two-thirds of the Senate membership, both on the emergency clause and on the bill itself.

King told reporters as the sixth legislative week opened that he was sure of one Republican vote and fairly sure of a second. But, he said, he will not schedule the SUB bill for a floor vote Wednesday unless he is assured of a third GOP vote for "insurance."

In advance of the gathering of 172 legislators for a night session, House Democrats began a search for new tax sources to finance fulfillment of their platform pledges. Senate Majority Leader King sat in on the session.

House Speaker James A. Lantz, in charge of the policy session, pointed out inflation has largely eaten up increases in state revenue in recent years.

Lantz said studies indicate, under the present tax pattern, spending of about 733½ millions and income of 630½ in 1959-60. But, he added, a projection for 1962-63 indicates an income of 950 millions and spending at the level of only about 715½ millions.

If taxes are increased 100 million dollars a year, Lantz said, they would last only about three

Testimony May End Today In Death Trial

Testimony is expected to be completed late today in the traffic manslaughter trial of Dale Glenn Morrell, 27, of 128 Montana Ave., Chester, who is charged in the death of John W. Webber of East Palestine R. D. 2 last Oct. 25 on Route 7 just north of Wellsville.

Webber was killed when a car driven by Morrell hit a railroad blinker standard at the Silver Switch crossing.

Jurors were selected and then sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday and then left immediately to view the location of the mishap.
The jury includes Perry Hilliard Jr., Ruby Miller, Ruth Greenwood, Lillian Riegel and Emerson Call of Salem, William Allen and Frank Miller of East Liverpool, Alice Laughlin of Wellsville, Malinda Gerlach of Lisbon, Clyde Risbeck and Wilma Smith of Leontonia and Mary Holman of East Palestine. Mildred Helm of Salem is alternate.

Contract Let By Board For May 5 Ballots

Candidate Petitions For Primary Voting All Declared Valid

The Columbiana County Election Board Monday night awarded a $2,428 contract for furnishing May 5 primary ballots to a Salem job printing concern and ruled as legally valid the petitions filed before the deadline last Wednesday by 217 office — seekers in eight cities and villages.

The printing contract went to the Dodge Publishing Co. on its low consolidated bid. The only other offer, $2,578.55, was filed by the Wilson Printing House of Market St.

The board also awarded a contract for poll books for both the May primaries and the November general election to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus on its offer of $20.25 a precinct. Exactly the same offer, $20.25, was received from the Heer Printing Co. of Columbus. The Johnson-Watson Co. of Dayton bid $21.35 a precinct.

In other action, the board ruled valid the party declarations of candidacy filed by 109 Democrats and 108 Republicans for the primaries in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, East Palestine, Lisbon, Leontonia, Columbiana and Sallineville.

Previously, the total number of candidates had been listed as 219 because of a duplication the board explained. The duplication resulted when Wayne Paulson filed for Republican nomination for councilman at Columbiana, then withdrew the petition at the last minute and filed for the mayoralty nomination. Eliminating his Council candidacy cut the total to 217.

No action was taken on three independent candidates for the November election. However, the petitions, apparently are sufficient and the candidates will be given ballot places, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon clerk. Judge George

Income Tax Proposed To Meet Akron Needs

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Akron Chamber of Commerce went on record Monday in favor of one per cent city income tax which would raise an estimated 8 to 10 million dollars annually.

The Chamber had been one of the major opponents of such a plan in previous years. Soon after a Chamber committee urged the city to enact the income tax proposal, Mayor Leo Berg said:

"I have reached the conclusion that an income tax is best for financing Akron's pressing needs." Berg has talked for some time of a 42-million-dollar city improvement program during the next six years. The Chamber said the plan should be spread over 10 years.

Dulles Goes To Hospital For Surgery

Hernia Operation Due; Secretary Gets Leave Of Absence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, walking slowly but smiling, checked into the hospital today for a hernia operation.

The secretary entered the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center at 10:28 a.m., EST. He was met by the hospital commandant, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton.

Heaton, a surgeon who will do the operation, told newsmen he expected it would be done either Friday or early next week.

Heaton said it would take about two weeks for Dulles to recuperate from the operation.

His ailment, kept secret for more than a month, was disclosed by President Eisenhower Monday night as Dulles asked and got a formal leave of absence. It immediately posed two big questions.

Will Dulles, who will be 71 on Feb. 25, return to his post?

Will the West, with an ailing Dulles or without him at all, revise its just a-borning policy toward new Soviet threats and demands on Germany?

Both Dulles and presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty sought to give assurances on those questions. Dulles said he would be gone for "a few weeks" only. Hagerty said Dulles would not only return but would represent the United States in any talks with the Soviet Union on the Berlin crisis.

Dulles' ability to shrug off illness and put in a grinding day is almost legend. But on Capitol Hill there was less optimism about Dulles' power to snap back completely from his third illness in as many months.

And the State Department, driving to develop a solid-front Allied response to the Soviets, pondered the effect of the absence of a chief who likes to do most of the heavy work himself.

Under Secretary C. Douglas Dillon took over as acting secretary. Under Secretary Christian Herter, who outranks Dillon, will relieve him Sunday, upon return from a South Carolina vacation.

Dulles' disclosure came about nine hours after he returned from critical surgery with top leaders in London, Paris and Bonn. He had made the trip wearing a truss to ease a left inguinal (groin) hernia. He had also taken along medication for a persistent inflammation of the colon.

Dispute Rises Again At Plant

Laughlin's Workers Resume Picketing

A gold stampers' grievance flared up again this morning at Homer Laughlin China Co., idling 1,200 to 1,400 employees, although the dispute that precipitated picketing last week apparently had been settled in a labor-management conference Monday morning.

The women workers, members of Local Union 124 of the IBOP, placed picket lines at the plant entrances again this morning. The company said "a few" of its workers entered the plant before the lines were in place, but it said most of the employees are idle. The number of idle was estimated at 1,200 to 1,400.

Management said the action was "contrary to the understanding reached at the meeting yesterday." The labor committee of the U. S. Pottery Association and the Executive Board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters had agreed that the grievance would be referred to the wage conference scheduled in April at Pittsburgh.

The picketing began last Thursday, but the line was withdrawn after one shift change. On Friday, the union leadership said its members contended they were "being locked out of their job rights in favor of lower paid employees."

Teachers Get $300 Increase At Wellsville

Yearly Boost Slated For April 1 From Levy Passed Nov. 4

A $300 salary increase for the year for 65 teachers and principals in Wellsville schools was voted by the Board of Education Monday night.

The increase will be pro rated starting April 1.

Funds will come from a 3-mill levy for salaries approved at the November general election.

The board also voted to send telegrams to Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and State Sen. Arthur Blake today, endorsing three bills being considered by the State Legislature.

The bills include one requiring children to be 6 years old by Sept. 15 to enter school, another permitting any levies voted by school districts to remain in force until repealed and the third which permits boards to invest building funds in government bonds until needed.

The board also approved the sale of a milling machine, Hendy lathe and drill press to the Reynolds Machine Co. of Cleveland for $2,250.58 and the purchase for the same price of two 9-inch South Bend lathes and a Delta drill press.

Earl Bake, president, appointed Dave Brookman and Don Wellington as a committee with Supt. S. E. Daw to pass on extended leaves for teachers.

Supt. Daw reported the adult night school was "very successful" with 38 enrolled in the typing class and 17 in the shorthand class.

The board authorized Raymond Rowley, clerk, to borrow $10,000 Feb. 20 to aid in meeting the February payroll until the state foundation check is received.

It signed a contract with the Minneapolis-Honeywell Co. to inspect control systems in the school buildings.

The board received and filed applications from Herman Kessel and Chalmer Nicholson for the janitor's post at McKinley School and an application from Ruth Fraser for employment in the cafeteria.

False Radio Signals

Ike Believes Reds Lure U.S. Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today voiced belief that some American planes have been lured across Iron Curtain country borders by false radio signals.

Eisenhower told a news conference that American pilots have strict orders not to play a fox and hound game by flying along Soviet borders in order to gain intelligence information.

The President was asked whether there had been occasions in which U.S. planes such as the unarmed transport reported shot down by the Soviets last September had been trying to draw Soviet fighters into the air.

The President replied firmly he had issued very strict orders some time ago against any such tactics.

He went on to say that American planes sometimes crossed the border due to navigational errors.

And, he added, he believes false radio signals once in a while have drawn U.S. planes over Soviet or satellite territory.

But for American planes to do anything to cause Soviet fighters to scramble in defense is strictly against orders, he said.

It was Eisenhower's 150th news conference since he took office six years ago. He touched on these other matters:

The Municipal Court staff is preparing to issue 10 citations today for motorists who have ignored old parking tickets, based on charges filed by "Meter Maids."

The court is scheduled to issue nine summonses and one warrant. Named in a summons, a motorist merely is told when to appear in court. If he is named in a warrant, the officer who serves the paper has a right to take the defendant into custody and hold him for court if he does not post bond.

When the papers are processed today, they will be turned over to the police department and "Meter Maids" for service on the motorists.

Deadly Blow Rips Central Part Of City

Apartments And Homes Crumpled In Path Of Twister

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A tornado struck a deadly blow at the heart of St. Louis today without warning.

Seventeen were known dead. Another 265 were injured, 55 seriously.

Numerous persons were trapped in homes and apartments which crumpled under the storm's blows.

The storm took the same path of this city's worst tornado which killed more than 100 in 1927.

Men worked throughout the night, searching the fallen bricks, concrete and lumber.

The tornado hit at 2:12 a.m. First it hit two suburbs, Brentwood and Crestwood in southwest St. Louis County; then moved northeast into St. Louis. It took its toll in an area bounded roughly by Olive street, Grand boulevard, Newstead and St. Louis avenues. This is a mile west of downtown St. Louis.

St. Louis was lashed by torrential rains for hours before the tornado struck.

The tornado delivered its hardest blows in a section of tenement houses occupied mostly by Negroes.

All but three of 16 bodies taken to the city morgue were those of Negroes. Seven of the dead were children under the age of 11.

Five dead were from 4902 Delmar Blvd., where 14 were trapped in a three-story house which caved in. Four dead were pulled from the wreckage at 3862 Page Blvd.

On all sides there was tragedy and destruction. One father was pulled from the rubble, his dead son in his arms.

Both City Hospital and Homer G. Phillips Hospital were swamped with the injured.

Thirteen were dead upon arrival at City Hospital, and four at Homer G. Phillips.

All police and fire equipment was rushed into the area. Streets were barricaded. Live electrical wires curled in the streets. Power was cut off to the stricken zone. Police patrolled the darkened streets with flashlights.

The 575-foot tower at television station KTVI was toppled in St. Louis. It fell across two houses but no one was reported injured.

The 385-foot tower at radio station KXLW also crashed. It fell on part of the station where Bob Hetherington, the general manager, and four others had gone to inspect flood damage.

William McAllister was just closing up a filling station when

Nine Negroes Enter Schools In Alexandria

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Nine Negro children entered three previously all-white public schools in this historic Southern city without incident today.

They were admitted under court order, and backed by a display of police force but there was nothing to indicate any need for the guard.

Alexandria thus became the third Virginia community to accept integration since the collapse of the state's "massive resistance" program and the failure of last-ditch court efforts to obtain delay.

Seventeen Negroes in Norfolk and four in Arlington County, adjoining Alexandria, previously had been admitted to junior and senior high schools. Seven of the nine in Alexandria were the first to get into former all-white elementary schools.

Five youngsters, ranging in age from 6 to 11, walked quietly into Ramsay Elementary School.

Two others entered Theodore Ficklin Elementary in the downtown section. Another two were admitted to the Hammond High School.

'Poor' Girls Lose Dream

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Why don't more millionaires marry poor but honest working girls?

If you go into a drugstore in any business office area in America during a coffee break, you'll find half a dozen AWOL secretaries and stenographers debating.

"Why can't I find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire who will marry me and take me out of this world of work and worry?" is the topic.

Every time one of these female desk jockeys snags her nylon hose, or the boss bawls her out because her typewriter can't spell, she asks herself, "Why can't I find me a nice tall, dark, handsome millionaire?"

She never asks for a tall, dark, handsome plumber or bus driver. She won't even settle for a short blonde, balding, pot-bellied millionaire.

While this wish can be dismissed as a hopeless dream in most cases, it isn't altogether an idle dream with many office girls. They scrimp and save to go on expensive cruises or to take vacation trips to Mexico or the Bahamas—places where they fondly imagine every palm and pine tree shades a love-hungry millionaire.

And whom do they meet? Vacationing plumbers and bus drivers most of whom, alas, have brought their wives. And the girls come home bitter—and one year nearer to being old maids.

Not long ago I met a young, tall, dark, handsome millionaire bachelor. I asked him why he didn't marry some poor but honest working girl—a girl desperately eager to make him happy.

"I'd be crazy, too," he replied crisply. "The poor but honest working girl you describe is suffering from a Cinderella psychosis. She isn't looking for a husband. She's looking for a helping hand."

"She doesn't have a romantic urge. She just has an urge to acquire some valuable male real estate without even putting up a real down payment. She wants something for nothing."

"But wouldn't a girl like that make a good thrifty wife?" I asked.

The man gave a hollow laugh. "Why, a girl like that would have me broke in two years," he said. "She'd expect an apartment on Park Ave., a winter home at Palm Beach, and a summer place on Long Island."

"She'd want diamonds, furs, servants, and a new Rolls-Royce every year. She'd expect a trip to Europe every year, too."

"Working girls have big ideas about how millionaires live, but their ideas are a generation behind the times. A millionaire doesn't live that way anymore—at least guys with only one million, like me. We don't have that kind of dough."

Well, if you are a poor but honest working girl, there is the true reason you can't find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire to marry you.

He'd like to—but he simply can't afford to. You are too expensive for his pocketbook.

Chester Council, Gas Official Meet On Repair System

A representative of the Manufacturer's Light & Heat Co. conferred with Chester Council Monday night concerning repair service in the city.

At a meeting last week, Mayor Burton Ward told Council some aspects of the utility's service had declined since operations were transferred to Weirton from East Liverpool.

Thomas Stephan, public relations representative of the utility, said a service man is available in Chester 24 hours a day. He said Earl Speerhas is now residing on Phoenix Ave. and may be telephoned at EV-7-0581.

Questioned by the mayor, Stephan said it is not possible for the firm to station another man in the city. He explained the emergency system by which other utility workers are brought to the town temporarily.

Stephan requested Council to amend an ordinance requiring separate bonds to be posted by any firm excavating a street. He asked that firms be permitted to post a guaranty bond to cover all work in the future. Councilmen agreed to modify the regulations.

Rested, Tanned, Graham Launches 5-Month Crusade

HONOLULU (AP)—Sun-tanned and rested, Billy Graham left by plane Monday night for a five-month religious crusade in Australia and New Zealand.

The 40-year-old evangelist spent three weeks in Hawaii recuperating from a nervous disorder in his left eye which doctors ascribed to overwork and strain.

Graham said that his eye was much improved.

"It's about 75 per cent of normal," he said, "and far better than I'd hoped for. It gives me no pain."

Graham said he had been confined to bed for two or three days with a virus infection but that he was over it.

He will begin his crusade in Melbourne next Sunday and will conduct meetings there for five or six weeks.

After a two-week rest, he will go to New Zealand for religious meetings in Auckland, Christchurch and Wellington, and then return to Australia for services starting in Sydney about April 15. He plans to return to the United States about July 15.

He described his Hawaii vacation—mostly spent golfing, swimming, deep sea fishing and relaxing on the beach—as the "best rest of my life."

Hearing Set Feb. 17 On Ohio Road Project

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Plans for eliminating nearly 10 miles of curving, narrow pavement on U.S. 50 and Ohio 7 in Washington and Athens counties will be discussed at a public hearing Feb. 17 at the Carthage-Troy High School in Coolville, Athens County.

The Ohio Department of Highways said it will explain details of a proposed location of over 8½ miles of four-lane divided highway between the southern junction of 50 and 7 and Ohio 5. Cost of the project is estimated at 8 million dollars.

If the proposed route is approved, the existing highway will become part of the respective county road systems. The section that carries Ohio 144 over the Hocking river, however, will remain part of the state system, the department said.

Youths In Damage Case Given 'Another Chance'

Five Salem youths, who damaged a city restaurant following the East Liverpool - Salem High School basketball game here Jan. 30, were "given another chance" at a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin Monday at Lisbon.

Four of the youths had been before the judge on previous violations and had been put on probation.

Judge Tobin ordered each to pay $3 toward cleaning costs of the restaurant and directed the same probation requirements to apply, including an order not to associate with each other, which they failed to do under previous probation.

pected to hit again later today, caused damage in some sections. Uprooted trees and utility poles complicated travel and rescue operations in some sections.

Fifty to 60 m.p.h. gusts were clocked in Lima, and 45 m.p.h. bursts in Cincinnati.

A hanger at the Marion Municipal Airport was badly damaged by winds.

However, unless the weather forecasts are completely wrong, the situation will not begin to approach the disaster proportions of 20 days ago.

In Columbus, Howard Kenny, meteorologist in charge of the U.S. Weather Bureau, said the Sandusky and Chagrin River situations will approach the critical stage tonight.

Upper Sandusky should get at least a 15-foot stage, two feet above flood stage, late today. The Sandusky River should crest at Tiffin above flood stage sometime Wednesday.

However, the ice jam at the mouth of the Sandusky makes the situation at Fremont "difficult to evaluate," Kenny said.

An Army engineer looked over the situation and the mayor of Fremont said he had contacted Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in an effort to prepare for any eventualities. The engineers recommended blasting a path for the Sandusky River through Sandusky Bay, but just how and when it could be done was uncertain at 10:30 a.m.

Streams flowing into the Ohio River from the western and central portions of the state were not expected to cause much trouble. Kenny said the Scioto would flood at Larue in Marion County but that only lowland areas along its course would be affected.

The same apparently was the case in the Miami and Muskingum River watersheds, although officials were taking all precautions. In Mount Vernon, sandbags were brought out from buildings in which they were stored only days ago.

At 8:20 a.m. the Blanchard River level at Findlay was up 10 feet since midnight, and 3½ feet below the flood conditions of last Jan. 21. It has risen 8 inches between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m., and rain is continuing in the area.

Col. G. Fred Graf, Hancock County Civil Defense director, alerted the Findlay CD organization and set up staff headquarters in the post office and operating headquarters in the local armory.

The CD workers have evacuated 26 persons from homes on Ash Avenue flooded by the Blanchard River. The 26 were taken to receiving centers manned by the Red Cross in two schools.

Sixth street along Eagle Creek in Findlay is under water and barricaded and some 30 other streets in the city and Hancock County have been closed. Scores of people who lived on Sixth Street during the January flood were evacuated at that time.

Still another flood threat was posed at Mount Vernon in Knox County, one of the hardest hit towns in last January's flood due to flooding of Dry Creek and the Kokosing River. In Mount Vernon this morning, Mayor Philip Mauger alerted CD workers and units of the local National Guard to assist if the situation gets worse.

CD workers were alerting some residents along Dry Creek — the creek that caused so much trouble in the last flood—that it may be necessary for them to evacuate. The creek is reported rising at a rate of 12 inches an hour, but at 8:30 a.m. was 18 inches below the top of a levee. Sandbags are being placed along the levee in southeastern Mount Vernon.

The Kokosing is reported rising but at 8:30 a.m. it was five feet below the top of the levee.

Four Knox County schools were closed because county roads were flooded.

Rivers and streams in the Zanesville area were reported either threatened by floods, or overflowing, causing evacuation of some residents in low-lying areas. The Red Cross reported it has opened two evacuation centers in Zanesville.

Cleveland reported a rainfall of 1.99 inches in a 24-hour period, the Canton - Akron area 1.9, Youngstown 2.13, and Toledo 1.1. Some families were evacuated because of rising water in the Cleveland area. Four families were reported to have waded through ankle-deep water at Willoughby Hills on the same street where five persons drowned in the Jan. 21 floods of the Chagrin River.

Some families also were reported evacuated at Valley View where the Cuyahoga River and Ohio Canal meet. Two drowned in that area last month.

The Weather Bureau reported at 7:30 a.m. that Columbus had measured 1¾ inches with rain still coming down. Dayton caught just short of an inch of rain in one hour, with a total of 2.33 inches measured by 7 a.m.

The bureau said these rains will continue in the north and central counties this morning and diminish in intensity this afternoon.

Colder weather is scheduled to move into the state tonight. The morning weather map shows a low pressure area in eastern Ohio with a front extending westward to St. Louis. A low in northeastern Missouri will move rapidly into northern Ohio by evening, followed by much colder and dryer air.

Introduced Monday night were bills to:

Permit the six state-supported colleges and universities to set up substantially uniform entrance requirements. Present law provides Ohio high school graduates must be admitted without examination. Increase maximum jobless benefits for single persons to $35 a week and married $40 a week (now $33) with a $25-a-week maximum for two dependents at $3 each.

Impose a maximum $1,000 fine and a year in jail for a person, firm, corporation or labor union intimidating or harrasing a circulator of an initiative or referendum petition.

Increase to $20 the amount partially employed may receive before deduction from jobless benefits.

Sen. Ross Pepper (R-Allen) offered a constitutional amendment to require the merger of common pleas and probate courts in counties of less than 30,000 population.

Bake Sale To Be Held

By Women Democrats

Plans for a bake sale were discussed at a meeting of the East Liverpool Women's Democrat Club Monday night in the Ostrow Building on Market St.

The sale will be held in two weeks at Roberts Jewelry Store. Addressing the women were Bert Goodballet, candidate for mayor; Clinton Seever, candidate for council-at-large, and Mrs. Kay Blackburn of Columbiana, county chairwoman. Mrs. Lillian McKeever presided.

The next meeting will be March 9.

Fire Protection Plan

Due Palestine Study

EAST PALESTINE — Unity Township trustees and members of Council's finance and safety committees will meet tonight at 7:30 at the City Hall to discuss an estimated cost of proposed fire protection for the township.

The trustees are seeking to obtain city fire protection for the township and propose to submit a levy to finance the plan. At present individuals obtain protection through insurance agreements with the city. The proposed levy would be submitted in November instead of May because the township has no primary.

DAR Gives Flag For Fire Station

Two representatives of the Daughters of American Revolution presented an American flag to the Calcutta firemen for their new fire station at a meeting Monday night.

The presentation was made by Mrs. William E. Kaiser, flag chairman, and Mrs. Donald Thompson, regent of the Rebekah Grismom Chapter.

Firemen agreed to sponsor an Explorer Boy Scout Troop. B. W. Merwin will be scoutmaster for the organization for boys 14 to 18. Lester McElhaney was named institutional representative of the fire department.

Named to a committee to prepare rules for election of new officers in March were Gay Billingsley, Donald Dunn and Dale Horg. Firemen also voted to retain George Hamilton's Band for Saturday night dances. The auxiliary of the fire department sponsors Teen-Timer dances each Friday night from 7:30 to 11:30 in the fire station.

A short review of use of a resuscitator by David Dray concluded the meeting. The next will be Feb. 16, Norman Neal is president.

The meaning of the initials "D.F." in the address "Mexico, D.F." is "Distrito Federal." Like Washington, D.C., the Mexican capital relies within its own district, not subject to any state government.

Ballots

L. Brokaw and Atty. William S. Foulks filed as independent candidates for municipal judge. An independent also filed for the Columbiana mayoralty.

The board approved a motion eliminating both party primaries in Leetonia and Columbiana villages and the Democratic primary at Lisbon under the Ohio "no contest" law. However, Leetonia will hold a special election on the primary date on a 4-mill village operating levy.

Lisbon School District will vote on two operating levies totaling 12 mills and Wellsville will act on renewal of a 1-mill levy to pay police department salaries. Although there will be no Democratic primary in Lisbon, that party's voters will be entitled to a vote on the school operating levy, O'Hanlon emphasized.

Certificates of nomination will be issued later to the unopposed candidates affected by the elimination of the primaries, O'Hanlon said. In addition to Leetonia and Columbiana and Lisbon Democrats, the "no contest" ruling affects two unopposed candidates for East Liverpool municipal judge. They are Atty. Samuel M. Chertoff, Democrat, and Atty. Andrew J. Coleman, Republican.

Although the candidates obviously have spent nothing, law requires that they must file sworn statements of campaign expenses before the certificates can be issued. In addition, the law fixes a deadline next Saturday for any possible protests against the candidacies.

The Election Board also created a new precinct in Salem, raising that city's total to 21 and boosting the number in the county to 152.

The new Salem precinct, to be known as 4-I, was created by dividing Precincts 4-A and 4-H, O'Hanlon said. The action was necessitated by the heavy vote at the November general election, when more than 500 ballots were cast in Salem 4-A.

The board split the areas of the two precincts to create three of about equal size from the standpoint of the number of voters.

Wheeling Woman, 46, Cleared In Man's Death

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Clarice Bohn, 46, Wheeling, was cleared Monday of a charge in connection with the death of Lawrence Freeman, 45, a Steubenville, Ohio, structural steel painter.

An Ohio County Grand jury refused to indict Mrs. Bohn who said Freeman lunged through a kitchen door and fell onto the blade of a pairing knife she was holding Jan. 31. Freeman was found dying in her apartment.

A lie detector test given the following day indicated Mrs. Bohn was telling the truth, authorities said.

'Attrition' Is A Fancy Word For It

If it makes congressmen unhappy to hear him harping about living within the federal government's income, why doesn't President Eisenhower think of something more pleasant to talk about?

The answer to that question was a terse story on the financial pages at the end of last week.

The U.S. Treasury, the story said, would have to go into the money market for a billion and a-half dollars this week because it was short of cash.

It is short of cash because in its current 15-billion-dollar refinancing effort to keep the national debt afloat the U.S. Treasury has learned that the holders of more than two billion dollars' worth of bonds have decided to cash them in and invest their money elsewhere.

This, admits the Treasury, was an unusually high "attrition."

"Attrition" means to "wear out." More government bondholders than usual have "worn out," meaning more than usual have concluded it would be wise to invest their money in something else.

IT WOULD APPEAR that the Spenderocrats who are boosting budget recommendations willy-nilly to show what open-handed philanthropists they are with other people's money never heard about anything as grim and ugly as the way the government must borrow money to cover federal deficits.

They never heard of the sag in federal credit last summer that made prudent officials like Treasury Secretary Anderson wonder how much more deficit spending it would take to undermine the government's credit.

Presumably, these inspired spenders would climb over one another to invest their money in a private enterprise that showed no inclination to live within its income. But many of them, on the other hand, know no more about either public or private finance than they know about astronomical physics.

President Eisenhower cannot blurt out in a press conference that he is concerned about the credit of the United States; he could set off a panic in the money market. But Treasury Secretary Anderson can say in a hearing before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee that "current deficits and fear of future deficits can keep people from saving because of possible loss of savings to inflation."

SECRETARY ANDERSON declared that balancing the budget was not something worth doing for its own sake but something that had to be done to sustain confidence in the government. As far as he is concerned, the country can spend more than the 77 billion dollars recommended as long as it pays its own way.

But if Spenderocrats boost the spending and back away from new taxes to cover the bill, that will undermine the confidence of lenders who underwrite the national debt with their savings.

If they ever decide that the nation's credit is not a good risk, the Spenderocrats can whistle for money and never get any more. It is always other people's money they want to spend, not their own. To get it, they first must get other people's confidence.

Why Could Abe Lincoln Read?

This is a point of view that needs to be voiced before the politicians drown it out with their thundering declamations on the greatness of Abraham Lincoln this week.

Here was a country-raised bumpkin who had none of the advantages, not even a school house. There was no federal aid to education, no state aid — no education. Teachers, so-called, were not underpaid. They were untrained and mostly unskilled and what they got when they could get it was more than plenty for what they were prepared to do.

There were no libraries, no educational consultants, no school buses and no roads. There were no sight-saving lights, no aids to education, no laboratory courses, no college preparatory courses, no classes for slow learners and no classes for fast learners.

Yet this country bumpkin named Abe Lincoln learned to read and write on what now would be called an adult level. Not everybody agreed on this, but historians have agreed on it, and they always have the last word. He learned to spell, too, which is something that now requires special instruction. What happened? How did Abe Lincoln learn to read with none of the advantages now considered indispensable?

He learned to read, of course, because he wanted to educate himself. He was curious about what might be found in books. He had the one thing whose lack in millions of today's children makes the country's multi-billion-dollar educational effort a pathetic exercise in futility. Incentive. There is no substitute for it. When it's combined with intelligence, the results are spectacular. Otherwise, with neither incentive nor intelligence, the results of education are nothing at all.

Perhaps an orator or two may mention this on or before Feb. 12.

Cypriots Must Be Tired Of Bickering

There can be only one explanation for the news that independent status for Cyprus is imminent, with the enthusiastic endorsement of Britain and the governments of Greece and Turkey.

The Cypriots must be tired of bickering. The Greek Cypriots must be tired of kicking around the Turkish minority. The Turkish minority must be tired of provoking a hostile Greek majority.

The Greek government must be tired of the idea of claiming the Greek majority on Cyprus as nationals. The Turkish government must be tired of worrying about the future of an island only a few miles off shore if it falls into hostile hands.

Britain, on the other hand, is tired of being shot at and raided at by critics who claim British rule has been something less than inspired. It has told the Cypriots that it wants only to be rid of them as a responsibility.

Thus, there is no reason for the Cypriots to go on killing one another if they are tired of it. Like every disputes of its kind, it can be ended whenever the disputants are tired of fighting.

The trouble is that most disputes go on and on because the disputants are fighting for the sake of fighting. That has been true of the bickering on Cyprus. It is true of the bickering over Berlin. It kept the quarrel over Trieste going for half a generation. It is the explanation for the bitter-end fight over educational desegregation in the United States.

There are more people enjoying the fight than are who think they would enjoy a settlement of the fight. Whenever enough of them tire of fighting, there can be a settlement. There are no insoluble problems — only stubborn people.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The President's committee to study inflation, headed by Dick Nixon, will find costs of study have trebled. Before it has held three meetings it will discover:

1. Mr. Nixon has stopped to get a haircut and is unable to raise money to get out of the barber shop in time for important session.

2. Expenses of letters calling the meetings have soared, due to the fact it takes two men these days to write one letter.

3. A man invited to serve on the committee will write a letter asking about purposes. By mistake the answer will go to a man on the committee studying the Erosion Problem. Straightening this out will mean more expense.

4. Mr. Nixon will break a $35 gavel. The new one will cost $250.45.

5. A member will fail to show up. It will be discovered he is home in a hassle with his wife who sneered, "So you are away from home all the time studying inflation! Why don't you solve it by spending a half hour with me buying one day's groceries?"

6. Inflation probes will discover the cost of smoking cigarettes at a meeting has gone up. There will be demand for more money by attendant who empties ashtrays.

7. Labor leaders summoned to the session will cause costly waste of time by requiring postponements because they are tied up in arbitration meetings over wage demands. Some committee member will show up with his wallet stolen and borrow $3 for a lunch which used to cost 60 cents.

8. Postmaster General Summerfield, one of the committee members, will fail to arrive and help make a quorum because he is too busy blowing money on postage stamps in new sizes, colors and shapes. Lew Strauss will wish he were back dealing with something as comparatively simple as atomic energy. (After eight months most of the committee will be in bed with nervous breakdowns, dizzy spells or tired blood. Report will be filed beyond anybody's understanding and costing five times the estimate.)

"IT'S TIME for everybody to stand up and be counted." — Gov. Rockefeller on current

Labor Hits Rockefeller Tax Plan

By Victor Riesel

Mark down 6 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 2, as the moment when Nelson A. Rockefeller began to realize that becoming the peoples' millionaire is the toughest hurdle in the presidential sweepstakes. Especially for a sincere political leader who would rather not make the race in his old silks.

At six o'clock that evening Gov. Rockefeller had some 20 New York State labor leaders gathered for cocktails in the executive mansion in Albany and grouped themselves around the old television set. At 6:15, Gov. Rockefeller and his guests watched Gov. Rockefeller (via pre-filmed tape) telecast an appeal for tough higher taxes.

No one congratulated the governor on his performance. They went politely through their roast beef dinner for the next hour — all seated strictly according to protocol, personally arranged by Rockefeller himself. To many, the new governor seemed strained.

Even the most militant of the AFL-CIO leaders hated to see this, for they like "Nelson" and were unhappy at the thought that they'd have to slice him like the roast beef. Finally, Mr. Rockefeller spoke for some 45 minutes — but not on taxes, except for a few moments at the end.

THE GOVERNOR called them together for another reason. It was his personal experiment. He plans a series of these sessions with them. Earlier his aides had drawn up a list of the state's top 50 union chiefs. For this dinner conference, the roster was trimmed to 20.

It was Mr. Rockefeller's first effort to contact labor on a personal, intimate basis since he had taken office a month earlier.

He was elected without labor support. But now to be a successful governor and run a state in such manner that it could be used as a springboard for some future presidential nomination, Rockefeller, the Republican needs these labor leaders.

He explained that he wants a favorable industrial climate in the state. He would welcome their support and counseling, he said. He wants to woo back to New York the industry it has lost, in greater proportion than other states have.

Then came the few words on his unswerving demand for higher gas, cigarette and income taxes.

Then the labor people hit him.

FIRST CHIDING came from Liberal party leader Alex Rose, president of the Hatters Union. Rose quipped that he was glad to see that Mr. Rockefeller did not consider those who opposed him as "anti-party people" who should be purged.

The union chief said he was certain that Mr. Rockefeller did not want the labor men just to come and thank him for the dinner. Rockefeller nodded his head.

Rose told him that labor wants to be consulted before action, such as the tax increase move, is taken — and not afterwards.

Soon the floor was taken by Rockefeller's personal friend, Jack Potofsky, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, one of the founders of the old CIO.

Potofsky, who had been seated at the governor's side, has never been one to bait a political opponent. It was Jack Potofsky, for example, who thought and said publicly that it was unfair to needle President Eisenhower for his efforts to ease tensions with a few hours on the golf links.

GENTLE-VOICED Potofsky then hit Rockefeller hard.

The men's clothing chief pointed out that his union has 175,000 members in the state—and that they have restrained themselves from asking for a wage increase for three years. They have not wanted to hurt the industry in New York by raising costs and putting local factories at a competitive disadvantage with firms in other states.

Thus they believe they have aided business, saved jobs, fought inflation and served the public by keeping down the price of clothing shipped throughout the United States Now, said Mr. Potofsky, Mr. Rockefeller comes with heavy tax demands which will hit the clothing workers — who have not been working a full year and full weeks anyway.

Mr. Potofsky told the governor to try and close tax loopholes elsewhere to raise the money. Labor is going to fight the new governor hard and if Mr. Rockefeller wants labor support and wants them in for future discussions, they want to be consulted first and not told after the fact.

It was Mr. Rockefeller's first hurdle. It looks like he'll have to run the course all over again.

Crisis After Crisis

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has had problems which pursued him like a devil. He inherited crisis when he took office in 1953 and has had to face one crisis after another ever since.

In trying to solve them he became the most traveled secretary of state in history. He seemed to feel that handling foreign affairs required not only his personal attention but his on-the-spot attention.

This zeal for first-hand dealings didn't save him from criticism. On the contrary he's been criticized for being away from home base too much, for not relying more on the collective brains of his advisers. His has been called a one-man show.

But his efforts may have worn him out. He says he expects to be back soon from the hernia operation he is preparing to undergo. That remains to be seen. Illness has been piling up on him: an intestinal cancer operation in 1956, an inflamed colon in December, a severe virus attack in January, and now this.

When he became secretary six years ago he inherited the war in Korea and the war in Indochina. Truce came to Korea in time but before the shooting stopped in Indochina half of Viet Nam was lost to communism.

The Red Chinese pushed him into repeated crises with their shelling of the Nationalist Chinese islands off the Red China coast. There was the crisis in Egypt when President Nasser seized the Suez Canal.

Some of Dulles' critics suggested he himself precipitated the Suez crisis with the cury way in which he refused Nasser American money to build the Aswan Dam.

But, as if Red crises were not enough, this country's French and British allies and its friend, Israel, shook the world with their invasion of Egypt. Last year when the Iraq government fell, American troops were sent to Lebanon.

And always, there was the steady push from the Soviet Union and Red China.

Dulles' problems had their roots in the problems of his predecessor, Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Yet in a way they were different while remaining the same.

Acheson and President Truman finally decided that the Soviet Union and Red China had pushed far enough and had to be stopped. The result was not only the war in Korea but a series of alliances intended to chill the Communist ambitions.

Yet in the Truman-Acheson days the Soviets and to some extent the Red Chinese, who had only recently seized control of the China mainland, were beginning to emerge as enormous powers, particularly the U.S.S.R. as it grew in industrial and military potential.

President Eisenhower and Dulles have followed the basic Truman-Acheson foreign policy: the policy of containment, of trying through military alliances and foreign aid to keep communism from advancing any further.

What Truman and Acheson, and after them Eisenhower and Dulles, sought was to stop the pressure of communism dead in its tracks. They never found the complete answer.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China are expansionist and, because of their growing power, determined to push. No one yet, despite the endless negotiations, has come up with an answer to the problem.

But Dulles' problem was different from Acheson's in this way: in the years since Dulles took office the Soviet power, industrial and military, has become gigantic. The Red Chinese are making a break-neck effort to catch up.

There is no doubt Eisenhower considers Dulles one of the great secretaries of state. He has said so. History will have to decide just how good or poor a secretary Dulles has been. It is a little too close for a cool appraisal yet.

Russia's Big Lie

By David Lawrence

Reds Trapped In Plane Shooting

The United States government has again caught the Soviet government in a willful lie about the murderous attack on 17 Americans traveling in an unarmed transport plane last September.

Moscow now claims that the tape recording issued by the State Department here last week is a "fake" — but that's nonsense and the Soviets know it. Consider these facts:

1. The Soviet government was offered on last Nov. 13 a chance to listen to the tape recording but Ambassador Menshikov refused and finally accepted only a typewritten copy of the transcript of the conversations between the Soviet flyers telling how they were in the act of shooting down an American transport plane near the Turkish border.

Why didn't the Soviets call it a "fake" before? They had three months to say so publicly — or privately — to the American government.

2. The officials of the United States government and their intelligence staffs knew full well that the question of authenticity might be raised and so they checked and double checked every angle. Also, the American plane was in communication with Western ground stations just a few minutes before the attack. The time and approximate location were established beforehand beyond question.

3. THERE IS a monitoring system set up by the United States and its allies close to the Soviet border of Turkey and other Middle Eastern boundaries, as well as in Western Europe and Canada. This vast electronic apparatus requires a big staff. Persons familiar with the Soviet languages monitor these listening posts along the Russian border but highly trained American officers on the spot supervise the work as a part of the United States Air Force defense system.

4. Authentic transcripts of the chatter that goes on between Soviet airplanes are recorded daily — sometimes simultaneously from three or four different monitoring points. These are constantly checked against one another. The transcript of the episode which cost 17 American airmen their lives as the Soviet patrols shot down the unarmed transport plane was checked and double checked most carefully before being formally presented to the Soviet government last November.

It was recorded by the same personnel whose recordings have been continuously checked — and proved — in the past as authentic.

5. The Soviet newspapers, by government direction, now criticize certain words in the translation issued by the State Department here.

It is true that some Russian words could be translated in various ways, such as "you boys" or "you fellows" or "you comrades." It's hard, sometimes, to translate the vernacular or idiomatic phrases. But if anyone has any doubts about the exact meaning of the original Russian script, let him listen to it. When the under secretary of state, Robert Murphy, invited Ambassador Menshikov in Washington to listen to the tape recording and he refused, the same offer was made to the Russian Embassy's air attaché but this also was declined.

6. PORTIONS of the tape now have been played on the radio in this country in Russian, and will be repeated in international broadcasting so that anyone who understands the Russian language can make his own translation and decide for himself whether the basic facts of the transcript as issued by the Department of State are in accord with what the voices on the tape itself say.

Officials here are astounded at the flatness of the Russian denial of the authenticity of the tape recording and the only way they can figure it out at all is to assume that the Soviets, once having taken a position of complete innocence, do not dare now to change their minds.

All the American airmen presumably are dead—so the Russians think the issue cannot ever be resolved.

The Soviets could have contended that the attack on the American plane was not ordered by Moscow —for, obviously, there wasn't time to get such orders to their own planes—and that the Soviet patrol mistakenly acted on general orders to shoot down what it might have thought to be armed planes. This could have explained what happened, but it cannot now explain the reason for the lying.

For the Soviet government has done itself irreparable harm throughout the world as it is caught in the act of telling falsehoods to the United States government in a matter involving the lives of 17 American citizens and their anxious relatives.

THERE IS also a suggestion of Soviet trickery in the luring of the American plane across the border into Russia. The State Department's announcement last week about the Menshikov-Murphy conference of Nov. 13th was carefully worded on this point as follows: "Mr. Murphy reviewed the facts in the case and informed the ambassador that it appeared to the United States government that the American pilot, as a result of the signals transmitted by radio beacons in Soviet Georgia and Armenia, had probably made a navigational error which resulted in his unintentionally crossing the Soviet border."

This is a plain hint of Soviet mischief. On this phase of the tragedy, Moscow may soon have to explain some more transcripts and tape recordings.

Not Funny Any More

By Truman Twill

You are not the only one worried because things don't seem as funny as they once did.

We're all worried. The fact is there aren't many things to laugh at. Even the humor is forced and unnatural.

These are grim days. Yet, current problems are not necessarily more solemn than problems used to be when people still dared to laugh. Something has happened to laughter.

Things that once would have been good for a laugh aren't being laughed at any more. No one is amused.

Old-timers who wish Will Rogers were still around to poke fun at things are wishing through bitter tears. If Will Rogers dared to make jokes about this country's psychopathic fear of the Communist bogey, or the staunch moralism of John Foster Dulles, there wouldn't be a giggle.

No one would snicker. Any newspaper that published anything which snorted at current foibles instead of sobbing and snuffling about them would be accused of undermining the American way of life.

If a funnyman started to work out on Dwight D. Eisenhower the way old Will carried on about Calvin Coolidge, he would be charged with giving aid and comfort to the Kremlin.

No, Will Rogers couldn't help.

Come to think of it, the only place where anything funny is said any more is the Kremlin. What Nikita Khrushchev said about Hubert Humphrey's interview with him was first-rate humor, except that any American who snickers will be scowled at. The shadow of fear looms over everything. Americans see the vulture's wings fluttering over every segment of their life. They must not do this, they must not do that because it would make the Kremlin happy.

The Kremlin could not possibly be keeping track of all the mental derangements of the American people. It has more important things to think about.

One thing would give it fits, if there is any sense of proportion left in the world at all. That would be the sound of laughter in the land of the free and the home of the brave — a changeoff from the sibilant hissing and whispering that has taken the place of the all-American yuck.

We used to laugh all the time. We laughed a lot of things out of existence. Starting with wisecracks about redcoats in pre-Revolutionary days, Americans kidded their way through a century and a half of tempestuous history before everybody suddenly turned moody.

Today if anyone laughs at anything funnier than a dirty joke, he laughs alone. It is a finger-nail-biting age. Fun-poking is as unhealthy as prodding lions.

And all this in a country whose secret weapon used to be an irrepressible sense of humor that gushed forth and spilled over at the most unexpected times in the most unexpected places.

We ain't losing this world. Ivan is getting the coffin ready. Pass the Kleenex.

Uncle Sam is going to make a wonderfully sad corpse, provided he doesn't burst out laughing first.

Archeological Report Heard

Aide In Excavations Speaks To Explorers

The Aboriginal Explorers Club heard a talk on experiences as an excavator at two archeological sites in Ohio by Ross W. Nelson, a graduate of Ohio State University at Columbus, at a meeting Monday night at the home of Harold A. Dawson of Boring Ln.

Nelson, who has lectured at the university on sociology, cultural backgrounds and primitive cultures, worked with two Ohio State professors at the archeological diggings, including Dr. Leo Estel, curator of the Ohio State museum.

The project topic for the meeting was given by Jim Woodrow of Wellsville, who discussed Indian mounds of Norwalk. Ray Simone of Smiths Ferry presented a brief talk on the "Rise and Fall of the Huron Nation."

A report on time periods in classifying Indian artifacts found in the Tri-State area was given by Richard S. Thompson. Jim Monte of Wellsville displayed Indian artifacts found while surface collecting and excavating rock shelters. Harry R. Cline of Wellsville displayed three skulls of the Oden culture. Harry M. Cline, also of Wellsville, showed slides of the recent Ohio River flood. Bill Patterson screened movies of local history.

Patterson was in charge of refreshments. It was reported that Robert J. Davidson, who was made an honorary field representative of the club, is leaving for the mission field in the near future. He will work among the Indian tribes of the Southwest in the New Mexico area, and is working with a Duquesne University professor on a book about the Indian artists of the Southwest. He plans to enroll in classes in archeology at the University of New Mexico.

The next meeting is Feb. 23.

Event's Set Feb. 17

Dayton Minister To Speak For Dinner Of Chamber

Dr. Harvey C. Hahn, a veteran Dayton minister, will speak at the annual membership dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, Feb. 17, at the Country Club.

Dr. Hahn took over the pastorate of the Otterbein Evangelical United Brethren Church in 1929 while he was a student at the United Theological Seminary in Dayton. In his 30 years' service, the congregation has grown from 81 members to 716 families.

Dr. Hahn's church now has three Boy Scout organizations and five Girl Scout troops and uses three services on Sunday morning to accommodate the crowds wishing to worship.

Between services, Dr. Hahn teaches a high school class. He uses fees from high school commencement addresses to provide scholarships for students who otherwise might not get to college. He conducts a weekly radio program called "Heap O' Living," along with a daily Bible-reading program on WING at Dayton. The proceeds from the radio work are turned over to the church for development of a church-owned recreation center on a farm near Centerville.

Fees for speaking engagements, such as the one here, are used toward completion of the Otterbein Community Center at Dayton, which has been under construction since 1956. Dr. Hahn has been Protestant chaplain for the Dayton Department of Public Safety since 1942. Director of evangelism for the Ohio-Miami Conference of his church, he also is one of 12 members in the speakers' bureau of the General Motors Public Relations Department.

Born in Cleveland, Dr. Hahn attended public schools there and later enrolled in the YMCA night college, majoring in business administration. For 1917 to 1929, he was employed in a jewelry store.

Ike Will Join In Tribute To Abraham Lincoln

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation he reunited is paying reverent tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln 150 years after his birth.

President Eisenhower, who has proclaimed 1959 as Lincoln sesquicentennial Year, will join about 1,000 others at a memorial banquet Wednesday night, the eve of Lincoln's birthday.

On the anniversary itself Congress will hold a joint session to hear an address by Carl Sandburg, a leading biographer of the Great Emancipator, and a reading of the Gettysburg Address by actor Fredric March.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin will address an anniversary dinner in Lincoln's home town, Springfield, Ill. About 20 foreign envoys will travel from Washington to attend.

DR. HARVEY HAHN
He Serves Growing Church.

Dr. Hahn has been associated with dozens of civic enterprises and organizations in the Dayton area. In 1955, he received a Legion of Honor Citizens Award from the Dayton Presidents Club as the outstanding citizen of the year. The award is conferred by representatives of all luncheon clubs in Dayton and Montgomery County.

Dr. Hahn serves on the executive committee of the following: Miami Valley Hospital, United Theological Seminary, Ohio-Miami Conference Council of Administration, Mental Health Association of Dayton, Miami Conference Board of Christian Evangelism, National Board of Christian Education of the EUB denomination, and the East Dayton Urban Renewal Committee.

Firemen Help Pay On Truck

$5,000 To Be Given For Chester Vehicle

A proposed contribution of $5,000 by Chester volunteer firemen toward the purchase price of the city's new fire truck was accepted by Council at a special meeting Monday night.

A firemen's delegation composed of Fire Chief Raymond Gibbs, Lawrence Cline and Percy Willison said the firemen felt obligated to make a contribution to the purchase of the $20,000 truck, and asked Council to accept the sum.

Council authorized acquisition of the truck at a meeting Wednesday night, replacing a 10-year-old truck which is in need of costly repairs. A $4,000 trade-in was allowed.

Council last week launched plans for seeking an assessment of 50 cents a month from residents for a 3-year period.

Fire Chief Gibbs said last night the firemen's contribution could enable the assessment to be reduced or perhaps eliminated. Council took no action on the assessment plan.

Discussion was held on soliciting industry for donations for the new truck. The firemen's check is to be presented at the next meeting of Council Feb. 19.

Don't let
INFLATION
run away

STOP IT!

Inflation can easily become a runaway horse.

Inflation is caused by a lot of things. But one of the most important is rising labor costs without a corresponding increase in the nation's productive efficiency. The reason: 75 percent or more of the cost of what you buy is for labor.

It's kind of a chain reaction. With each round of wage and price increases, our dollar loses another chunk of purchasing power.

If things keep on this way another twenty years—or ten—or five—what will happen to your savings, your insurance, your pension plans, your children's education? Inflation robs you of your future security. Isn't it time to stop this senseless spiral?

* * * * *

Some people think they enjoy a little inflation—at least temporarily when they get a few more dollars in pay.

For a while they have more dollars to spend and everything is rosy.

But, too soon, comes the day when rising costs force prices up so high people don't have enough dollars to go around.

Nobody likes inflation then.

The American Iron and Steel Institute brings you this message from the steel industry because

Inflation robs us all

attention,
fathers!

Cigarette Bill Waits Vote

CHARLESTON (AP) — A merchant who offered cigarettes for sale below cost to injure competitors could be fined up to $500 under a bill up for passage in the House today.

Del. Paul H. Kidd (D-Gilmer) is the sponsor of the measure, which carries the title, "Unfair Cigarette Sales Act."

The bill would make it a misdemeanor for a wholesaler or retailer to sell cigarettes below their cost to him with the intention of undercutting competitors. A violator could not only be fined, he also could lose his cigarette license.

Kidd's bill, which has not been before the Senate, was one of seven up for passage in the House. The Senate had 10 bills and one constitutional amendment resolution up for passage. Both chambers convened at 2 p. m.

The resolution awaiting an adoption vote in the Senate calls for a vote of the state's citizens in 1960 on taking away the governor's power to put non-budget items before the 30 days legislative sessions that are held in even-numbered years.

The Legislature meets for 60 days in odd-numbered years in sessions which, like the present one, are not restricted as to the subjects that may be considered.

In the even years, the Legislature meets for 30 days. The sessions are restricted to consideration of the annual budget, additional items which may be listed in the governor's pre-session proclamation, and such other subjects as the Legislature itself, by a two-thirds vote of both houses, may decide to consider.

The first 30-day session was held in 1956 under a constitutional amendment ratified in 1954. Now Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy), in the resolution up for action today, has proposed another constitutional change to revoke the governor's power to include non-budget items in his proclamation for even-year sessions.

A proposed state minimum wage law still was at amendment stage in the House, held over there from yesterday. Dels. Rene V. Zabeau (D-Harrison) and J. E. (Ned) Watson (D-Marion) are the sponsors of the bill, which originally called for a $1-an-hour minimum wage in West Virginia.

As amended yesterday, the bill now calls for an hourly minimum of 75 cents and would apply only to establishments with more than three full-time employees.

Another amendment added hospital employees to the workers who would be exempt from the bill's provisions. The exempt list already included all those now covered by the federal minimum wage law, agricultural workers, domestic servants and employees of federal, state and local government.

The bill was held on amendment stage another day to allow time to look into the status of part-time employees under its provisions.

After adjournment tomorrow afternoon, the House chamber will be taken over by a wet-vs-dry debate. The House Temperance Committee has scheduled a public hearing at that time on a double-barreled constitutional referendum proposal by Watson.

Watson has introduced twin resolutions calling for votes in the 1960 election on two propositions: (1) Shall the constitution be amended to remove the present ban on sale of liquor by the drink and let the Legislature regulate liquor sales as it sees fit? (2) Shall the constitution be amended to take the state back to prohibition, except that sales of 3.2 beer — defined by law as non-intoxicating — could continue.

The Temperance Committee yesterday followed the unusual procedure of sending the resolutions to the floor before, rather than after, a hearing. The committee recommended their adoption.

A change recommended by the committee in the "wet resolution" would delete a requirement that the Legislature, should it subsequently authorize liquor by the drink, limit the number of outlets to a maximum of 3,000. The committee preferred letting the Legislature regulate the number of outlets without a limit written into the constitution.

The House passed unanimously yesterday and sent to the Senate a bill to extend the use tax, an existing 2 per cent levy on out-of-state purchases, to contractors who come into West Virginia to do business temporarily.

They would have to pay the tax on the purchase price of equipment brought into the state, except that a 10 per cent credit would be allowed on equipment which had been in use a year or more.

The Senate passed 30-0 and sent to Gov. Underwood a House-approved measure to increase the maximum charge for newspaper publication of lists of lands to be sold for delinquent taxes from 25 to 40 cents per item.

First, during the recession the industry, like many others, went in heavily for cost cutting. Where possible, fat was trimmed from the overhead, and easy going practices of boom days were discarded. Second, the industry closed down marginal and aging facilities. It got the benefit of the new and more efficient mills built in profusion since the end of the war.

Japan's Crown Prince To Wed On April 10

TOKYO (AP) — April 10 has been chosen as the wedding date for Crown Prince Akihito and Michiko Shoda.

The nuptials will be held in the palace sanctuary. The 600 guests will include relatives, government leaders and representatives of all walks of Japanese life. But they must remain outside the sanctuary and most won't see the ceremony.

In accordance with tradition, Emperor Hirohito and the empress will not attend.

Man, 89, Plans To Run For Office 'For Lot Of Fun'

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — William Ed Rusk announced Monday he will be a candidate for the Middletown City Commission at the election next November but he said frankly he has no hope of winning.

He said he would make the campaign "because I expect to have a lot of fun" and then he added: "Every other — is going to run. Why shouldn't I?"

And what makes Rusk's candidacy even more unusual is the fact he will be 90 years old on Feb. 20.

A native of West Milton, Rusk has been a carriage trimmer, operator of an auto top concern, insurance man, dry cleaner and Justice of the Peace, among other jobs.

He organized a "Golden Age Club" here for elderly persons, then fell out with members and quit. Now he's forming a club for persons over 40.

The sprightly and keen-minded Rusk says "a sunny disposition is the only recipe for long life."

Power's Widow, Three Children Get Allowance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tyrone Power's widow and his three children will get $2,500 a month living expenses from the actor's estate.

Superior Judge Burdette J. Daniels, setting the allowance Monday, advised survivors to tighten their belts "until we find the condition of this estate."

He ordered $1,500 a month for Power's widow and third wife Deborah, 27, and their newborn son. The actor's second wife Linda Christian, 31, will get $1,000 a month for their daughters Romina, 7, and Taryn, 5.

Power's estate is estimated at about $300,000. He also left $370,000 in life insurance.

Sales, Orders, Production Up

Steel Industry Stiffening Up 'Backbone' Of Business

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry today is stiffening the backbone of the business recovery. Sales are up. New orders are up. Production is rising. And profits in the last few months have shown a spectacular recovery from the low point of a year ago.

Most steel companies report impressive gains in net income after taxes in the final three months of 1958. The increases over the year ago figures range as high as 200 per cent, although the gain for the industry as a whole is around 25 per cent.

But the fourth quarter spurt in income still couldn't entirely offset for the majority of steel companies the bleak months of early 1958.

Of 23 steel concerns reporting so far, including the largest ones, 20 report 1958 earnings running behind 1957. All but two small ones, however, managed to end 1958 in the black — and this despite the fact that the industry in the trough of the recession was operating at less than half capacity.

The ups and downs of the industry are charted in the profit statements of recent years.

Combined the 23 report 1958 earnings as $745,390,000, compared with $1,069,910,000 in 1957. This was a drop of 30.3 per cent. The 1957 earnings, in turn, were 3.4 per cent higher than those of 1956, which were off 10.5 per cent from 1955. In that year of the big business boom steel industry profits soared 74.3 per cent over depressed 1954.

How could the steel industry show a profit instead of a loss in 1958, with output cut back over most of the period, and even the sales increases of the last few months much less impressive than the rise in profits?

Steelmen offer two reasons.

County Health Board Votes That McKeever Be Let Go

Dismissal of Dan McKeever as county plumbing inspector was authorized by the Columbiana County Board of Health in a split vote Monday night in a meeting at Lisbon marked by a move by one board member to resign.

About 20 attended the special session at which disputes arose in discussion of the release of McKeever and the problems of a budget deficit.

Reduction of the 1959 budget to $44,300 as the result of the defeat of a proposed levy in November has forced the board to order curtailment of services.

Atty. Howard Cole, board president, pointed out state requirements call for county health districts to employ at least four basic personnel on full-time salaries — a health commissioner who is a physician, a sanitarian, a nurse and a clerk.

Cole read a letter from E. A. Graber, assistant chief of the state Bureau of Public Health, stating a plumbing inspector does not meet the qualifications as a sanitarian.

McKeever, who is slated to begin work March 9 as deputy auditor in the office of Kenneth Bell, will conclude his health department duties March 1.

Fred Hopper of Glenmoor, board member, suggested salaries be trimmed, retaining all plumbing inspectors and a sanitarian. Fred Johnson of Summitville, another board member, said he felt McKeever had been uncooperative.

Several attending the meeting spoke, most indicating the proper decision was up to the board. McKeever also spoke to the board.

Johnson offered the motion to dismiss McKeever and Mrs. Roy Archibald of Minerva seconded it. Dr. T. A. King supported Johnson and Mrs. Archibald and Hopper opposed.

Hopper then asked to resign from the board, but Cole said the action would have to be taken at the regular meeting Monday night. Cole added that he hoped Hopper would reconsider by that time.

Junk Dealers Get Notice Of Law Deadline

Letters have been sent to seven East Liverpool junk dealers notifying them that Wednesday, Feb. 18, is the effective date of a new ordinance enacted in mid-January by Council requiring that their premises must be enclosed with fences at least seven feet high.

Safety - Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today he sent a letter to each of the dealers reminding them of the new ordinance and requesting that each submit the plans for the fence to the director's office before proceeding with the construction.

The omnibus ordinance regulating junk yards also sets a limit on the height of piles of scrapped auto bodies and provides for strict control of fires in which the dealers destroy refuse.

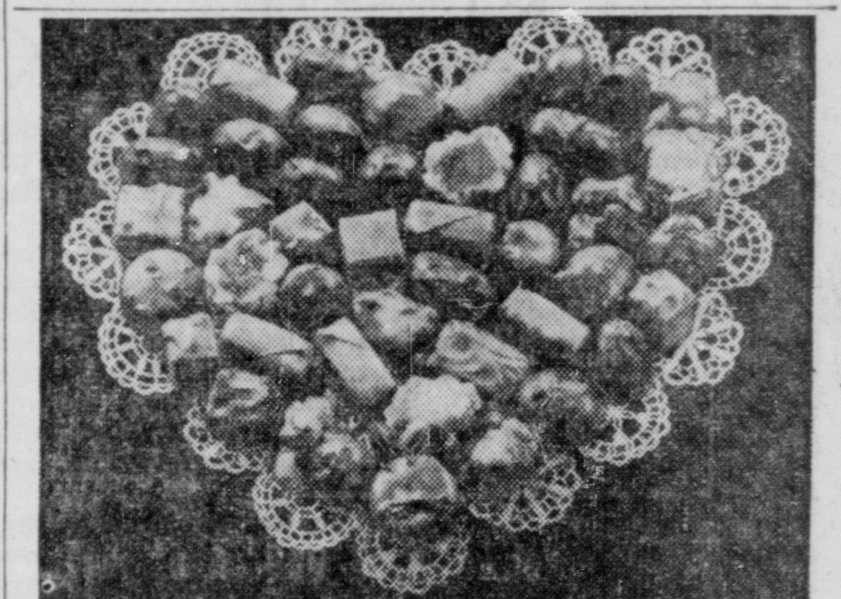

Ross said his letter also pointed out that the ordinance requires an annual license fee of $12.50 from persons who collect scrap in vehicles, but have no fixed place of business. No licenses for this type of business have been issued in recent years, he said. Application forms for both types of license now are available at City Hall, the director said.

Door Opened To Castro For Presidency

Age Limit Lowered From 35 To 30 By Rebel Government

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's revolutionary government reportedly has lowered the presidential age limit from 35 to 30—thus opening the door to Fidel Castro, 32.

Presidential Palace sources said the Cabinet decree changing the constitutional provision was contained in a special issue of the official gazette Monday night.

Dr. Osvaldo Dorticos, a legal expert for the provisional government, said the change was not made to benefit Castro specifically.

The revolutionary hero has denied he wants to be president, but various leaders of his movement consider him the logical choice. He and Provisional President Manuel Urrutia have said the country should be ready for elections by June 1960.

Constitutional provisions normally can be changed only by a Constituent Assembly. But since the overthrow of President Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1, the revolutionary forces consider themselves the "source of law" and the provisional government changes the constitution by decree as it sees fit.

On the labor front, Havana's vital tourist trade was threatened once again by a nationwide strike of restaurant and hotel workers called for Thursday to protest the government's continued shutdown of the gambling casinos.

Union President Alfredo Rancano, defying Castro's stay-at-work appeal last Saturday, said the walkout would idle more than 20,000 workers.

Rancano estimated 10,000 musicians, cabaret artists and other casino employees had been laid off because the rebels closed the gaming houses when they took over.

War crimes executions continued with the firing-squad killing in Bayamo of three Batista soldiers on charges of hanging rebels. In Santa Clara, a former army captain convicted of war crimes also was shot. These brought the unofficial total of executions to 292.

Check On Unlicensed Dogs To Start Feb. 16

A general checkup will be started for owners of unlicensed dogs on or about Feb. 16 in Pennsylvania, the Bureau of Animal Industry announced.

Persons found owning or harboring unlicensed dogs will be prosecuted, the bureau warned. All dogs not bearing a current license tag are considered strays and may be disposed of by any officer on sight.

The purchase of a license does not permit a dog to run at large unaccompanied, and it may be picked up by any officer, the bureau said.

Deadline for buying the 1959 licenses was Jan. 15 when only 7,677 were issued out of a possible 18,000 in Beaver County.

Maggianetti Awarded Citation From Church

Dan Maggianetti, former safety-service director, was presented with a citation Sunday from the Hillman St. Christian Church at Youngstown, which he has served for many years.

Maggianetti returned to the Youngstown police force Feb. 2 after resigning the post here.

Ray W. Snyder Elementary Building

New School Given Final Approval

The Western Beaver County School Authority will sign construction and bond contracts Wednesday for the Ray W. Snyder School following final approval of the building from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg.

The elementary school will be located on a site formerly known as the Burgett Farm on the Fairview - Ohlview Rd.

Named after the late Ray W. Snyder, former supervising principal of the school district, the building will consist of 12 classrooms, a kitchen, a multi-purpose room, a library, a music room, a health room and an office suite.

The total construction cost will be $568,367. The general construction contract will be awarded to the Carcase Construction Co. of Rochester, Pa., for $303,333. Other contracts follow: Electrical, Herge Radio & Electric Shop, Ellwood City, $40,600; heating and ventilating, Columbus Heating and Ventilating Co., Pittsburgh, $48,194; plumbing,

J. John Betke, Beaver Falls, $49,175; kitchen equipment, Rafael Bros., Inc., Youngstown, $19,588.

Construction is expected to be completed by next Jan. 1, according to B. J. McCandless, the architect.

The building is being constructed under the school authority headed by Daniel Baker.

Ohio Power Gives Figures For Last Year

CANTON — The Ohio Power Co.'s total sales, revenues and expenses in 1958 reached all-time highs, it was announced today by A. N. Prentice of Canton, vice president and general manager.

During the year the company's 450,000 customers purchased 8.8 billion kilowatt hours of electric energy, 14 per cent higher than in 1957, in spite of only modest gains in sales of power to most classifications of customers, he said.

Primarily responsible for the record sales was the coming into full production of the new aluminum industry in the Ohio Valley. The increasing use of energy by that industry during 1958 made it possible for Ohio Power to show gains in kwh sales over 1957 totals, Prentice continued.

Sale of electricity to commercial customers was up only 2.4 per cent over the previous year, residential customers purchased 6.7 per cent more power, but in the industrial category of customers, sales were up 19.2 per cent over 1957, attributable in large measure to the tremendous power requirements of the aluminum industry.

Operating in 53 Ohio counties, Ohio Power had revenues of more than $112,718,000 and expenses amounting to $92,349,000. That gave the company a net income of about $20,369,000, compared with $19,735,000 in 1957.

Major items of expense were $21,386,000 for fuel burned in the company's power plants, $24,779,000 for taxes and $23,750,000 for wages and salaries.

During the past year, Ohio Power continued its expansion program, investing about $49 million in new generation, transmission, distribution and miscellaneous facilities and in expanding existing equipment.

Stolen Midget Racer Recovered By Police

A two-cylinder midget racer valued at $100, stolen Jan. 2 from the home of Jack Steffen, 1153 Oakwood Ave., was recovered Sunday night, Police Chief Americo Radeschi said today.

The chief said Patrolmen Paul Carter and Floyd K. Hedderston received a tip from a May St. man last night.

Steffen identified the racer this morning, the chief added.

Two young boys claimed they found the racer in some weeds and kept it in the basement of one of their homes, Radeschi continued. No charges have been filed, he said.

Chester Post Plans Memorial Day Rites

A contribution of $25 to the Chester City Park fund was authorized by American Legion Post 121 Monday night at the post home.

Plans were aired to set up a fund for families of hospitalized post members and the amount is to be set at the next meeting Feb. 23.

Principals Ask New Approach To Teaching Foreign Tongue

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The traditional methods of teaching foreign languages must be junked and an entirely new approach adopted.

That is the gist of a set of recommendations being made to more than 5,000 junior and senior high school principals. They are expected to have far reaching effects in the public schools.

The recommendations came from the Committee on Curriculum Planning and Development of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals. The association is in convention here.

"What we need," the committee said, "is a complete change of emphasis from learning about the language to learning the language itself."

To bring this about, it urged that foreign language programs be made available to call capable and interested students, starting in the seventh grade if possible.

The study of one language would continue for a minimum of four years; six if possible. The courses would be elective, not required.

Emphasis at the start would be on learning to converse in the language. Grammar, direct translation and reading and writing the language would follow later.

Grammar and the ability to read will come easily and naturally if adequate time has first been spent in learning how to hear and speak the language, the committee said.

Principals who heard the plan outlined Monday were generally enthusiastic, but they had two bothersome questions: "Where are we going to get the teachers?" And how are we going to fit this into an already crowded schedule — what goes out if this comes in?"

Population of West Germany, including West Berlin, is about 54 million. Population of Soviet zone of East Germany, including East Berlin, is about 17 and one-half million.

With only a few finishing touches remaining, the new $550,000 Midland gymnasium will be ready to open its doors soon.

"The floor will be ready for use by the basketball team next Tuesday at the earliest," Robert Beatty, architect, told members of the press and radio who were invited to inspect the new high school gymnasium Monday.

However, an official opening date was not announced, but the structure should be completed within the next two weeks.

District Coaches Rate Top Cagers

Who are the outstanding basketball players who have appeared on district courts this season?

Four of those in a position to know — head coaches — offered their selections this week. And all agree that Wellsville's All-Ohio candidate Dan Baldwin rates the nod as one of the best scorers.

The coaches — John Karaffa of East Liverpool, George Hamilton of Midland, Jack McDevitt of Wellsville and Max Tuttle of Chester — also listed top players they have seen this year from such schools as Salem, Youngstown East, Cleveland East Tech, Aliquippa, Midland, New Brighton, Charleroi and Mingo.

PLAYERS considered are only those they have watched perform.

Karaffa gave Baldwin top rating for ability to produce points and nominated Salem's giant Lou Slaby and Jim Snowden of Youngstown East for top rebounders.

He listed classy Ken Glenn, a 6-6 southpaw from East Tech, as probably the top all-around performer.

While Baldwin drew praise from the four coaches for his scoring feats (he's averaging 24.7 with 346 in 14 games), Slaby and Midland's Movie Smith, a 6-3 junior, drew a majority of the votes for rebounding ability.

Their selections came as no surprise as each has been instrumental in leading their teams to outstanding records thus far. Salem is 15-1 for the season, while Midland is 17-3 and holds a narrow lead in the Section 8 WPIAL standings.

BOTH SLABY and Smith are powerfully built and have the ability to score in addition to being strong enough to hold key positions under the boards. Smith has hit for double figures in all but two of Midland's games. One game he missed because of illness and in the other he saw only a few minutes of action.

Slaby has scored 206 points this year and each time he grabs a rebound in Salem's remaining games, he will be adding to a record. He broke Salem's rebounding record last week against Akron St. Vincent when he snared 20. The old rebounding mark was set by Jack Alexander from 1952 to 1956 with 497. Slaby has 567 to his credit in just two years.

Hamilton, while giving Smith the rebounding crown by a huge margin, thinks Baldwin rates as a top scorer, but ranks behind Joe Madrey of Aliquippa.

The Leopard coach also heaped praise on New Brighton's Calvin Sheffield, whom he labeled "the best foul shot I ever saw in high school." Sheffield won the foul-shooting award in last year's Blue and White Nonpareil Club Junior Cage Tournament here.

TUTTLE, dean of the district cage mentors, gave Baldwin and Toronto's John Bucey top selections for scoring ability and singled out Mingo's Jim McKay as one of the best rebounders he has seen this season.

As to all-around ability, Tuttle's choice was the Wellsville ace. Hamilton's choice as top all-around cager was Chacko of Charleroi, called by some as the "best in Pennsylvania."

McDevitt, while also listing Baldwin for his scoring ability, named Smith of Midland for the top rebounding position and Dave Hunter of Salem for the best all-around performer.

Baldwin went over the 1,000 mark in his career Saturday against Goshen Union. He has 1,007 points for three years of varsity action at Wellsville.

On the local scene, Irondale and Fairfield-Waterford have each concluded their regular seasons and are priming for tournament warfare. Irondale meets Dillonvale tonight at Brilliant High School in Jefferson County.

Newell, with 15 straight defeats, is the lone team in the district yet to post the season's first victory. The Vikings have four chances left to break into the win column.

Musial Signs $100,000 Pact With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial signed another $100,000 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday, then admitted that his time in major league baseball is running short.

Musial, seven times the batting champion of the National League, told reporters, "I would like to play another year for sure." He added quickly that he hoped to play two more years if possible. A reporter reminded the trim, 38-year-old veteran that never before had he indicated that age was overtaking him.

"Well, I guess when a man nears 40 in baseball, he just has to admit time is running out," Musial replied.

Signing of his contract at the brewery of Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr. was only formality for Musial.

Busch said Musial will get the same salary he drew last year. At an estimated $100,000 that makes him the second highest paid player in baseball and top salaried man in the National League. Boston's Ted Williams reportedly makes $125,000 a year.

Brown Given 7-5 Edge In Title Defense

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—There's a feeling lightweight champion Joe Brown may reach the end of the road here Wednesday night in his sixth title defense.

Brown, the aging Negro from Baton Rouge, La., meets a fellow who already has given him a licking—Johnny Busso of New York.

He will enter the ring a 7-5 favorite locally but with longer odds elsewhere—in New York it's 2½ to 1—but even Brown and his manager Lou Viscusi aren't making any strident claims of victory.

It's quite different from Brown's last two title fights, both in Houston, when the champion told all that he would knock out both Ralph Dupas and Kenny Lane. He did keno Dupas, but he never came close to putting Lane on the canvas. In fact, he won a very close decision.

"This Busso has the biggest dimensions of any lightweight I ever saw," observed Viscusi. "If you consider everything but his weight you'd think the fellow was a welter or middleweight."

Busso proved too strong when he decided Brown in a non-title fight at Miami Nov. 4. He wasn't even shaken.

Brown has claimed that had the fight gone 15 rounds he would have won. That's something Busso hotly disputes.

Busso says Brown's age—he's 33 to Busso's 24—is against such a claim.

The fight will be televised at 10 p.m., EST.

Pettit And Hagan Torrid Scoring Pair In Pro Ball

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan of the St. Louis Hawks are forming a one-two punch unmatched in the history of the National Basketball Assn.

Through games of Sunday, Feb. 8, Pettit had scored 1,559 points and Hagan 1,277 for a total of 2,836. Between them, they accounted for an average 52.5 points per game and need only a combined average of 30.9 the rest of the way to top the all-time combo mark of 3,392 set by Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors in 1957.

Pettit's No. 1 again in scoring Hagan is up to No. 3, according to statistics released today by the NBA. Pettit has a 28.9 average in 54 games, followed by Arizin with 25.5 and 1,401 points for 55 games, and Hagan 23.6 for 54.

Bill Sharman of Boston continues to lead in free throw percentage, with 17 misses in 273 attempts for a 93.8 mark. Ken Sears of New York still leads in field goal percentage with .498; Boston's Bob Cousy tops the field in assists with 422 in 52 games for an 8.1 average, and Boston's Bill Russell remains well ahead in rebounding, with a 22.9 average to 16.7 for Pettit, the runner-up.

38 Students Fail, 225 On Probation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Almost a third of the student body at Bellarmine College was flunked out or put on probation at the end of the last semester.

The school had an enrollment of 743 and 38 students were failed and 225 placed on probation.

The Rev. John T. Loftus, dean of the Catholic school, said the action was in line with Bellarmine's policy of making students live up to "academic excellence."

Cleveland East Continues Runaway In Cage Ratings

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus Rosary's Crusaders made the biggest jump in the history of The Associated Press high school basketball poll today.

The Capital City quintet leaped all the way from tenth to second place in the Class A ratings, adding a storied flourish to the four-year regime of Coach John Wile.

A week ago, the Crusaders moved into the tenth spot, cracking the elite list for the first time, with a modest 48 poll points on the 10-9-8-7-6 voting basis. Today, with 43 sports editors balloting, they climbed to 146—just 60 back of state champion Northwestern of Wayne County which has led the list all year.

Four years ago Wile had a 1-17 record after winning the opener by a single point. The next year it was 6-12. Last season it was 15-3. This campaign the Crusaders have won 16 in a row—emulating the feat of the school's football team which won nine in a row and didn't allow a point.

While Rosary was making its big bid, all the other Class A top ten stayed up there—but only fifth-place Darby Twp. held the same spot.

Two changes popped up in Class AA, where Cleveland East Tech's state champion Scarabs continued to make it a runaway. Massillon whipped Canton McKinley 71-57 and dropped the Canton club from eighth to among the also-rans.

Massillon moved into ninth—its first appearance—and Youngstown Chaney took tenth as the many-times-champion Middletown Middies skidded to eleventh.

From here and there: Upper Sandusky, ranked seventh in Class AA, has been playing basketball since 1924 but has never been able to win the second game in a sectional tournament.

The current 15-1 record is the school's best.

Everyone's happy at Newark. The Wildcats defeated arch-rival Zanesville in football and twice in basketball. Ron Hall scored 29 as Chilliote beat Lancaster 68-48 to take the top rung in the Central Ohio League.

Mansfield and Ashland met for the 163rd time Friday, Mansfield winning 58-45 to up its series record to 58-45. Lykens snapped Mount Zion's 11-game winning streak 54-49 to take the Crawford County title.

Pleasant's Pandas completed a 17-game season undefeated, winning the Marion County crown with a 31-20 decision over New Bloomington.

Springfield's Wildcats are moving. They nipped rugged Lima Senior by 66-64 Friday for their seventh in a row. Elyria, with all Ohio football end Walt Rock contributing 28, defeated Sandusky 62-51 for its 17th straight and its second Buckeye Conference title in a row.

Bob Zalela of Lorain scored the winning bucket and ran his unbroken free throw string to 24 as Marion Harding was nosed out 60-58. Emil Hartman of Ohio Deaf, the state scoring leader, counted 46 in each of two efforts last week to run his 16-game total to 651.

Salem's Quakers whopped Akron St. Vincent 99-51 for their 12th straight as Lou Slaby, 6-4, picked off 20 rebounds to run his two-year total to a school record 507.

Wildcats Still Hold Lead In National Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky, North Carolina and Kansas State still are rated the top three teams in college basketball in the new Associated Press balloting but Kentucky wears the honor somewhat dubiously after its 66-58 loss to Mississippi State Monday night.

The sports writers and broadcasters participating in the weekly accounting based their selections on games through last Saturday. As a result, only Michigan State dropped from the top 10.

The Big Ten Spartans skidded down to 12th place after an 85-81 loss to Purdue on Saturday. Bradley, St. Louis and West Virginia moved up one place in the rankings, making room for Mississippi State in tenth place.

Kentucky drew 42 of 101 first place votes and accumulated 855 points. North Carolina had 18 firsts and 762 points and Kansas State 10 and 656. Unbeaten Auburn remained ahead of Cincinnati in a close race for fourth.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (Points on 10-9-8-7-6 basis):

Zoo Directors Make Trades At Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—To a passerby, it might have sounded a little like a baseball trading session, but if you bid at the right time you might have taken home an elephant or a lion.

The wholesale bartering of animals was the top business at Monday's convention opening of the Midwest Assn. of Zoological Parks and Aquariums.

The transactions by the directors of 32 of the nation's zoos were similar to major league club owners trading baseball players.

For example, three chimpanzees who couldn't learn to ride bicycles and ponies, drive cars or turn cartwheels were traded off by Frank McInnis, director of the Detroit Zoo.

"They were rookies who just didn't make the grade," he mourned.

The backward trio will be shipped to a New York city dealer, who in turn will send McInnis three more chimp prospects for the spring training season at the zoo.

The trading indicated that it takes 24 baboons to trade for one camel, a pair of kangaroos equals a leopard cub and one giraffe is worth five tigers.

And if you'd like to frighten guests with a deodorized skunk the Columbus Zoo has four on sale for $10 apiece.

The bargaining session began by each zoo director reading a list of his "surplus" animals, and of his needs. After that, the officials gathered in little huddles to do business.

Flood-Hit Town Maps Disaster Control Plan

PAINEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Willoughby Hills, where five persons died in last month's flood, wants to be ready if another flood comes.

Village officials Monday drew up a disaster control plan. Mayor Martha Tyler was named head of a combined police-fire-civil defense team designed to clear that section of the Chagrin River Valley at a moment's notice.

Tyler told the Village Safety Committee more auxiliary police are needed, plus more equipment such as ropes, two-way radios, life jackets, boats, skin-diving equipment and grappling hooks.

Exercise Strengthens Lower Back Muscles

If you have a nagging ache in the lower back, pull up a chair. You have plenty of company. Our sedentary way of life has brought on a muscular deficiency which has resulted in nagging backache and dragging fatigue.

Also, excess fat on the abdomen can add an extra strain to the already weakened back muscles.

The corrective measures are a back-strengthening exercises and properly aligned posture. It's a mistaken belief that because you have weak back muscles you must strictly avoid exercise. On the contrary, back-strengthening exercises are vitally important.

What should be avoided are all exercises which involve twisting movements, sudden jerking or a held position with the lower back muscles overly stretched, such as in bending over with knees straight.

THIS SERIES of mild exercises, specifically designed for back-strengthening, is recommended by Col. Audrey Underkofler, physical therapist with the U.S. Air Force. The prescription is to take them daily.

1. Lie flat on back; knees bent with feet flat on floor. Roll hips and flatten back to the floor by pulling up-and-in with stomach muscles and down with buttocks muscles.

2. Lie flat on back; right knee bent with foot flat on floor; left leg stretched out on floor. Flatten back; bend left knee to chest; straighten left knee in air and lower it slowly to the floor. Keep the back flat on floor from the start of the exercise until the leg is back on the floor. Repeat exercise, alternating legs.

3. Lie flat on back; both knees bent; feet flat on floor. Flatten back; slide the feet on the floor and slowly straighten out both legs; bend right knee and slide right foot back; bend left knee and slide left knee back. Back stays flat on the floor from the start of the exercise until both knees are returned to the bent position.

4. Lie flat on back; both knees bent; feet flat on floor. Flatten back; clasp hands around knees and bring both knees to chest.

5. Lie flat on back; arms folded on chest; both knees bent; feet flat on floor. Flatten back; lift head and shoulders off floor; come to a half sitting position.

6. LIE FLAT on back; knees bent; feet flat on floor; arms at sides. Flatten back; raise head and shoulders from floor and slide hands on floor toward heels.

7. Sit on floor; legs stretched out in front; hands on knees. Reach forward with hands and try to touch toes. Keep knees straight.

Bringing Up A Family

Children's Prayers Are Talks With God

I've long believed that the prayers God likes best are those from little children. When these prayers are spontaneous, they are usually genuine, they come from the child's heart. Before the little child begins to pray, he hears prayers from his parents or other older persons. In many a home, he hears a par-

By Garry Meyers ent, usually his father, say grace at meals. When he first ventures to say grace or a bedtime prayer, he imitates the prayers and graces he has heard. Perhaps he has learned to repeat a grace or say a prayer, often in rhyme, taught him by his mother or father.

Unfortunately, I think, when he hears grace said by a parent, it is usually said in abstract or grown-up language hardly within his understanding. Nevertheless he may get from it an attitude of reverence.

I'VE OFTEN wondered why parents saying grace or family prayers in the presence of young children do not express themselves in language and concepts the youngsters can feel and understand. Instead, these graces and prayers are frequently in formal abstract words, too often uttered mechanically.

Yet you and I have also heard adults say a grace or prayer, when children were present, not unlike those the child might himself improvise.

I should hasten to note, however, that in the practice of some religious faiths there are formal types of prayers for children. The assumption is that, learned early, these prayers will grow more meaningful as the child grows older and keeps saying them. But no religious faith, to my knowledge, discourages the addition of spontaneous prayers and graces.

WE ALL AGREE I think, that when a child at any age improvises a grace or prayer in our presence we should show reverent appreciation. Most of all, we hope that, when the child says or hears a prayer, he feels this prayer is a talk with God and that he knows we feel the same.

My bulletins, "Graces and Prayers for Young Children" and "The Young Child and Religion," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Airport Funds Due Ohio Under Pending Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of Ohio cities hunting for money to modernize their airports—and plenty of them are—will be looking to Washington again if pending legislation goes through.

A bill which passed the Senate last week, over the strong objection of Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), would give Ohio cities some 2½ million dollars annually for the next four years for airports.

There can be no question that municipal officials in Ohio are interested in federal money for their airports. Last year at about this time, they asked for $7,626,000 but were given $2,865,000.

Here is a list of Ohio cities that received at least part of their airport money requests for the current government year (asked figure first, granted figure second): Akron-Canton ($1,093,000-$511,000); Cincinnati Blue Ash ($225,000-$200,000); Lunken Field, Cincinnati ($97,000-$31,000); Cleveland Hopkins ($400,000-$400,000); Port Columbus ($2,143,000-$750,000); Dayton (Cox Airport) ($1,530,000-$900,000); Mansfield ($82,000-$52,800); Portsmouth ($20,750-$20,750).

Here are the cities that asked for airport money a year ago but received none: Akron Municipal ($137,500); Cuyahoga County Airport ($999,000); Jefferson ($9,000); Lima ($890,000); Tiffin ($188,000).

In opposing the bill, Lausche objected in particular to the idea of supplying federal money to help the airlines build airport terminals and warehouses.

"That is a private business, and the terminals and warehouses ought to be built by the commercial airlines," he said.

Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) voted for the bill. Vote for passage was 63-22.

Newsman Dies At 45 WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — D. O. (Don) Gilbert, 46, chief of the New York bureau of the Canadian Press, died Monday while undergoing surgery for a stomach condition. Gilbert, who had spent nearly 30 years in top news posts in Canada and abroad, had headed the New York bureau since 1953.

Tax Statement Mailing Slated

Extension Given To County In Collecting

An extension on the deadline for payment of Columbiana County real estate taxes for the first half of 1958 was granted to March 14 by the Board of Tax Appeals at Columbus Monday, and statements for the collection will be mailed Saturday.

Under state regulations taxes are generally due in January and June, but various slowups and other factors have delayed the preparation process.

The board at Columbus also granted an extension of collection deadline in Wood County to March 31. A total of 45 counties in the state have requested extensions on the deadlines. The board previously granted extensions to Jefferson and Stark Counties.

County Treasurer Vincent Judge reminded property owners the tax statements are mailed as an aid to collection, and failure of the mailed statement to reach the owner is no legal defense against penalties.

Advisory Board Makes Plans Salvation Army Plans 75th Anniversary Event

Plans to Commemorate the 75th Anniversary of the Salvation Army in East Liverpool

Plans to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Salvation Army in East Liverpool were completed at a meeting of the Advisory Board Monday afternoon in the Citadel.

A musical festival featuring the Salvation Army Temple Band of Pittsburgh will be conducted at the citadel Sunday at 3 p. m.

Lt. Col. Edward R. Carey of Cleveland, divisional commander of the Salvation Army in Northeast Ohio, will speak briefly.

Representatives from the city administration, Ministerial Association, veterans' organizations, Trades and Labor Council and Chamber of Commerce have been invited to participate.

Maj. William Murtaugh, local commander, said the Salvation Army launched its mission here Feb. 17, 1884, and the first brass band was formed soon afterwards.

There was much opposition in those days to the street meetings in which the musicians participated, chiefly because of misunderstanding of the purpose of the Salvation Army, Maj. Murtaugh said. Today it is recognized as an indispensable part of the community and constantly maintains a high standard of service to humanity, he explained.

Don Baxter, chairman of the board, who presided, urged the public to attend the observance.

30 At Meeting Of City Democratic Women

Thirty attended a meeting of the Democrat Women's Club Monday night in the Ostrow Building on Market St., when two candidates spoke on a topic of general city government.

Guest speakers included Bert H. Goodballet, candidate for mayor, and Clinton Severs, candidate for Council-at-large. Mrs. Kay Blackburn of Columbiana, County chair-lady, also attended.

Mrs. Lillian McKeever, president, said only routine business was discussed following the program. Hostesses included Mrs. Carl Stella Laughlin and Mrs. Carl Bell. The next meeting will be March 4.

3-Way Mishap Damages Cars

Driver Forfeits $31 In Klondyke Crash

Three cars were damaged extensively in a crash about 6 this morning at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave., Klondyke, in which one driver was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance, police reported. A crash late Monday night was blamed on a minor rock slide on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super - road."

The Klondyke collision damaged a 1953 two - door sedan operated by Donald E. Miller, 31, of New Cumberland R. D. 2, a 1955 sedan driven by Frank R. Jones, 329 E. 9th St., and a 1952 auto operated by Thomas Dubberly, 800 Lincoln Ave., police said.

Miller and Jones said their cars were halted in the traffic lane when Dubberly's auto hit Jones' and knocked it forward into Miller's, police said. There was extensive damage to the rear of Miller's car, the front of Dubberly's and both the front and rear of the Jones auto, officers said.

Dubberly was fined $25 and costs on the traffic charge this morning in Municipal Court. He said his brakes failed.

Jay Eugene Dysert, 17, of 969 Main St., Wellsville, told police his 1955 sedan was damaged about 11:15 p. m. Monday as the result of a rock slide on the "super-road" about 500 feet west of Shady-side Ave.

Dysert said he saw the slide, but was unable to halt in time. There was damage to the front bumper, right rear door and right rear fender, police said. He said he was westbound about 25 miles an hour.

Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin said "only a few small stones" rolled onto the "super - road" from the hillside above. Street department workers shoveled the debris to the curb, he said. State Highway Department crews were summoned to clear away a similar slide a short distance further west.

Meanwhile, Norman E. Ward, 18, of Drain St., complained to police he was struck by an unidentified passing auto when he stepped off a curb on W. 2nd St. about 11:15 p. m. Monday. He walked to Osteopathic Hospital for treatment and is scheduled for X-rays of his left knee today, police said.

Young Vandals Blamed For Damage To House

Young vandals apparently are responsible for extensive damage to an unoccupied home on Henry Ave. which the owner reported late Monday afternoon, police said.

Hobart Ring, 219 Highland Ave., Wellsville, said the vandals invaded an empty furnished house which he owns, upsetting the refrigerator and causing damage to a record player and the electric meter. In addition, 22 caliber bullets apparently were fired through the kitchen door, he said.

Ring said the damage apparently occurred on Feb. 3, although he did not file the report until 5:20 p. m. yesterday. A neighbor said boys were seen in the vicinity of the home. Tenants recently moved out, the family said.

The giving of the mortarboard to students who are being graduated from a university is said at one time to have denoted that they had acquired full liberty and were no longer subject to the rod of their superiors—in imitation of the custom of the ancient Romans who gave a head-covering to their slaves in the ceremony of setting them free.

Village Hall Sale Renewed

Salineville Council To Make 2nd Try

SALINEVILLE — Advertising for bids for the sale of Village Hall was again authorized by Council at a meeting Monday night.

An effort to sell the structure was made last year, but no bids were received. Council plans to sell the three - story brick building, which houses a storeroom, and will centralize village offices at the fire station.

Council also discussed plans to organize a petition move to retain Dr. J. M. Nedelkoff who has been notified by Selective Service authorities in New Jersey he will be subject to call to military service.

Council will join with other groups in the village to petition the draft authorities to defer Dr. Nedelkoff, the community's sole physician.

A discussion on the improvement of Washington St. was held with a delegation from Schoolhouse Hill. Councilman Earl Davison presided in the absence of Mayor Karl Lindner, who attended a meeting of the County Health Board at Lisbon.

Birthplace of Gilbert Stuart, noted painter of portraits of George Washington, is near Wickford, Rhode Island. Still operating on the lower floor of the ancient house is a water-powered snuff mill.
